Smiley Says Any Change for SICE Up to Legislature

May 22 (AP)—Atty. Gen. Robert E. Smiley has ruled a state board of education has no authority to establish a school utilizing facilities at Southern or Northern Illinois.

Opinion was asked by State Sen. Clark Hamilton, D-
Springfield, after the Rev. W. Q. Carter, Rupert, charged

Sen. K. C. Barlow, R-Casa Grande, was blocking his or establishment of a school for underprivileged at

E. Jones, state superintendent of public instruction.

Wave of Cold Follows Wind Across Region

Everything is back to normal weatherwise, in Magic Valley if low temperatures at that time of the year are any guide.

The cold wave entered the valley

Thursday on the heels of high wind, rain, snow, hail and even a little lightning.

Trees were uprooted, windshields shattered and telephone disrupted by the high wind.

Thursday morning, Idaho Power company and the Mountain

Power company reported all service restored by Thursday night, however.

In Paul the high wind, blow down the framework for a new wave of snow at the base of the mountain was not restored at Berger and on the Salmon trout until late Thursday afternoon.

It had had an official temperature of 24 degrees at 7 a.m. when the ofical low was 22. Ketchum had an official low of 26 but temperatures as low as 22 were reported. Fruit and vegetable growers

also noted their crops had been damaged by the cold wave.

It would seem to me

that "cold" or "education"

had, contrary to my thinking, been the main factor in the recent election.

Jones reiterated again

that the Rupert church

denounced his plan with the other 11 informal

boards not definite

in their stand.

He also said the new church would be able to "informally" submit

its plan to the state and the state would not be bound by it.

Resolution of Kiwanis Asks Labor Ruling

Members of the Twin Falls Kiwanis Club approved a resolution Thursday urging county commissioners and the Twin Falls City Council to exclude organizations such as the Twin Falls Canal company.

The resolution was passed after being introduced by the board of directors—the committee on agriculture and the public and business affairs committee. It was presented to the commissioners by the latter committee and was passed by the membership unanimously.

The resolution states that the Twin Falls Canal company operations are not in the field of agriculture, "agriculture" rather than industrial. Company bills to accomplish this end are now in committee on both the commissioners and commissioners' later committee, and was passed by the membership unanimously.

Large Crowd Is Present for Senior Event

JEROME, May 22—Dr. Jim Buchanan, president of the University of Idaho, spoke at commencement exercises for graduates of Jerome High School Saturday morning.

About 1,000 people gathered in a section of town for the annual commencement exercises.

The eastbound machine, a 1946 Ford, was damaged when the car ran into the borrow pit. The deputy sheriff estimated damage at $200 to the car, $100 to the pole and $50 to the fence.

About 100 damages resulted in a collision of two cars at the city on highway 30. Damages to a Dodge driven by Darwin Pifer and a Buick driven by Al Lampre, 511 Fourth avenue east.

Dr. Buchanan was introduced by Dr. Oldie, superintendent of schools. He told members of the graduating class that "this is no time to lose faith because the world is troubled today just as it always has been." He said the world must learn the reason for the Ten Commandments and this generation will be no exception.

"You have the responsibility of the most standard of our generation to teach the world to the change," he told the class.

The 103 members of the graduating class were presented by Paul Taylor, principal of senior high school, and by Mrs. Pauline Pifer, Mrs. Al Lampre, member of the school board.

Three annual awards were presented during the program. Mrs. Buchanan, former president of the American Legion auxiliary, presented the organization's award to Sue McMahon. The award is based on scholastic standing, moral and personal award.

The personal award was presented by C. H. N. Shepherd, commander to Vern Guillford. The lapel pin and medal was awarded by Taylor on the behalf of the American Legion.

James Martin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin, was awarded the Davis trophy. The trophy is given to the student who has the best all-around spirit. Mrs. Sue Williams, senior class advisor, made the presentation.

The invocation and benediction were given by the Rev. Father E. A. Schermerhorn. The Valedictorian address was given by Mrs. McMahon, and Caroline Yingst.

A quartet of five children pleaded guilty Friday of a charge of disturbing the peace filed against him by the city of Jerome.

James Wilcox, 36, 350 Jackson street, was accused by his wife of using "vulgar, profane and indecent language" toward her and in the presence of their two sons.

He was remanded to the sheriff's custody by Justice court under $100 bond, awaiting judgment Saturday.

The invocation and benediction were given by the Rev. Father E. A. Schermerhorn. The Valedictorian address was given by Mrs. McMahon, and Caroline Yingst.

A piano duet was played by Miss McMahon and Marie Van Orman, both of Jerome, and a solo was given by Mrs. A. A. Moulsey. Selections also were presented by the senior chorus. The high school band played the pre-cessation and recessional.

TUCKER'S NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

WASHINGTON—Although the available chairman of the house and senate labor committees—Rep. Samuel W. McCall, Pennsylvania, and Sen. H. Alexander Smith, New Jersey—have been invited to draft the 1953 version of the Taft-Hartley act, it is probable that no action on this controversial legislation will be taken at this session.

The demands of spokesmen for management are so strong and so insistent that they are self-cancelling. Although the executives of the great corporations are generally satisfied with the existing situation, they have insisted on drastic changes in the 120 weeks of hearings on capital hill.

But they have done so in a spirit of bargaining rather than in any expectation of achieving their ends. They simply countered opposition pleas for weakening the law.

LABOR PREFERENCES PRESENT SYSTEM—Although labor's official representatives cannot admit it openly, since they have denounced the measure as "alive and kicking," they do not believe that they would prefer to operate under the present system rather than face new and unknown conditions of bargaining.

The unions' legal and organizing staffs have adjusted themselves to Taft-Hartley provisions and are working under them. Although they deny it officially, they have been injured by the new system of experimentation—employment—union membership—and wages are at peak points. With the inflationary movement apparently checked, they are as contented as they ever are.

AMENDMENT RATHER THAN REPEAL—As the hearings continue, it is clear that the agents for the workingmen and women seem inclined to retain the law in some form or other.

Bowing to popular-economic realities, in view of the fact that so many union members apparently voted for President Eisenhower, they have asked for more amendment rather than outright repeal.

The chief union advocates of wiping the law off the books are the iron and steel workers, the miners, the Mine Workers. Ironically, save for the fines he and his organization could well afford to pay, his dictatorial and successful rule of 400,000 miners has not been affected adversely.

DURKIN SILENT—White House indecencies will be pardoned probably for any legislative failure to renew the law. Although President Eisenhower probably has no desire to see the law continued, he has no proposal for changes; nor has administration spokesman has appeared before either house or senate committee. The executive branch has not carried out his pledge to "submit specific recommendations."

"The" selection of Martin P. Durkin as secretary of labor is the latest in a series of appointments to this position. As head of the United Association of Plumbers and Steamfitters before he entered the cabinet, Durkin had shied labor's denunciation of the statute, but he has been a loyal and silent soldier since Jan. 20.

Bob McCall and Smith have indicated they do not want to see the statute continued, but they have not proposed for its appearance, presumably because of their desire not to embarrass the administration. The GOP will need labor votes next year and in 1956.

By remaining out of the controversy, Eisenhower will antagonize nobody. The actual but unadmitted will be to let the statute stand, since the present statute is a Republican asset. So, why throw it away by tinkering with the act?

NEED FOR BASIC CHANGES—There is general agreement, however, on the need for a few basic changes. The most important concern presidential intervention in disputes jeopardizing the operation of major and defense-pertinent industries.

The last two weeks for an 80-day injunction period, the Senate has been unable to reach a modus vivendi, never has had a fair trial, as Senator Taft notes because of former President Truman's partiality to labor.

Eisenhower wants the controversial parties to settle arguments among themselves not to lay them on the nation. The new provision may be more flexible in order to prevent strikes and labor's anxiety over its effect that they will stay far away from 1800 Pennsylvania Avenue, Washington, D. C.

VIEWS OF OTHERS

COMMENT OF IREK'S REPORT—New York Times—"What the President has to offer is, as he put it, a policy of 'security with solvency.' This is a thoroughly good concept... his program does not call for immediate and complete cancellation of the nation by resorting to the meat-and-sacrifice in reducing expenditures. It contemplates, instead, a more efficient use of defense appropriations."

Boston Globe—"Congress will do well to think soberly about what it is to do further than President Eisenhower has advised in the matter of cutting foreign aid requirements."

Boston Post—"Congressional leaders of his own party are not going to be too happy over the five-point program, for they have frequently had the same effect in immediate tax cuts. But the campaign pledge 'merely implies that taxes will be reduced.'

Atlanta Constitution—"The President's speech was necessary, but not too effective. We hope it means he has abandoned his policy of leaving everything to the Congress. President must fight for his policy and his principles."

"All Americans want to see General Eisenhower succeed."

"It is vital that he guide us successfully."

"But let him take more initiative and project the great program he enunciated in his magnificent inaugural address. In his speech last month, the editors of the nation in Washington last month, into positive action. If he does not, the congress will sabotage them." The nation elected General Eisenhower—not his party. We hope he will speak some more."

GOVERNOR JORDAN'S CHICKENS—Are Governor Jordan's chickens coming home to roost? It would be hard to argue otherwise in view of the recent difficulties encountered by the University of Idaho in securing a dormitory loan.

World War III—Had broken out at any time in the last four years—or if it breaks out at any time in the next year or two—Admiral Radford might have been proved wrong. The B-36 was the best airplane available at the time. Five years ago there were no jet fighters that could reach the B-36 at over 40,000 feet. Today there are. But the B-36 is still the backbone of the U. S. atomic counter-offensive, in case the U. S. is attacked.

MULTER'S MUSE—Rep. Abraham J. Multer of Brooklyn, N. Y., under leave to extend his remarks in the Congressional Record, inserted a speech protesting against the raising of interest rates on government bonds, FHA and G.I. mortgages and loans. The title which Mr. Multer put on his "speech" was "Bundles for Billionaires."

Education is expensive, says a professor. But not as expensive as ignorance.

POT

SHOTS

LET'S HAVE SOME MAIL—Jim Mullen, who originated Pot Shots back in the dim past and conducted the column for many years, would like to hear from you good constituents.

"That 'good constituents' is strictly a term of art," he says. "It is probable that no 'action' on this controversial legislation will be taken at this session.

HOW THINGS APPEAR FROM PEGLER'S ANGLE

NO REFLECTIONS—"The ways of a baseball in flight from the hand of the pitcher may be cracked, disjointed, the gait of which I offer to the sum of human knowledge," superstition and hokum. My baseballs are not man-made, but man can improve them enough to a hump-backed, underhand pitch.

Care of Your Children

By ANGELO PATRI

How behaved as well as Jim. But she is nothing like Jim. She is now, however, a real girl behind that Michael. She would never think of a thing. There she is, a real girl, a real mother. I have never seen her. But she is a mother.

She is good to me, a neighbor. She is the picture of health and beauty. She is a little friend. She can give and she can take, and like it all the time. Jim retreats from recreation activities, but she is full of fun, the laughter of happy children. A happy childhood is what forms the roots for the growth to healthy adolescence.

The child who is silent, still, subdued, is not to be envied. Gooding comes by a certain resistance at times—resistance to temptation to start with, resistance to the will and desire to be independent, resistance to self and selfish people.

Healthy children, healthy in mind and body, join in the life about them, make mistakes, make trouble and yet clean up their messes. A healthy child like Rose actually needs careful attention.

It is a good idea to play with the neighbor's child.

Edna, the mother, looks out what goes on. She does clothes, knits a sweater, never any trouble. She is a good mother, but not June, but only June would feel if she got less than an A in all her studies were like to tell such a mother to worry about is the child in the house by herself, instead of her own age, no

Another Dam Is Bombed in Korean Fight

SEOUl, Korea, May 22 (UPI)—Seven Superfort bombers a 300-foot-long stone and earth reservoir dam near the city of Pyeongtaek in the latest concerted effort to knock out key roads and bridges.

The S-30 assault came as Chinese communists radio screamed "directly" over the destruction of two other dams in the same area earlier this week.

Called Crisis

Peking radio called the bombing of irrigation reservoirs a "crime" and urged the Korean communists to stand to stall the armistice talks.

The target of the latest Superfort attack holds back waters of the Han River, which is the south of the dam the key road and rail bridges along the Sunchon-Pyeongyang supply route.

Supply Area Hit

Five other Superforts hit 60-acre dams near Tokchon and destroyed a bridge and a switching yard at Simpson near the east coast, destroying 38 communist supply trucks.

Light bombers fired cover for the heavy bombers, damaged two dams and apparently damaged one.

Rain limited ground action to patrol engagement, with Americans and Chinese each with two rear guard regiments engaged in the most important fight.

Formosa Test Real Surprise

TAIPEI, May 22 (UPI)—The Chinese communists staged an air raid drill on the people of Formosa today that took U.S. Ambassador Karl T. Rankin by surprise as any of the island's 6,000,000 odd inhabitants.

Warning sirens wailed at 1:25 p.m. (10:25 p.m. Thursday, MDT) and 100 planes were suddenly swooped into the air to "intercept" the predicted attacks. Air defense officers told newsmen "three to six unidentified planes" were approaching, but did add that they were part of the act.

The alert began just five minutes before Rankin was scheduled to take off on a flight to the United States. The Chinese communists had various congressional committees on the China situation. NSA departure was delayed 45 minutes.

The alarm was sounded to test the efficiency of the island's air defense against communist planes that could get here in seven minutes from the red-bellied mainland. Authorities were generally satisfied with the result.

Man Convicted in Non-Support Case

A district court jury of two men and four women deliberated about one hour here late Thursday afternoon before returning a verdict of guilty against Elmer Hans Harmon, 36, of the town of Blackfoot, with no suspended sentence or fine.

A poll of the jury at the request of the defendant revealed the verdict was unanimous.

The case went to the jury at 4:30 p.m. after Mrs. Rubie Jo Harriet and her mother, Mrs. Joe Faist, testified for the state and the defense took the stand in his behalf.

Joe Faist, father of Mrs. Harmon, Robert Faist, his brother, and his wife, appeared as represented witnesses.

The court sat 1:30 p.m. Tuesday as time for sentencing. Harmon's bond was continued until the time of maximum penalty for the offense—a $500 fine or one year in jail or both.
